

The Manager Induction Standards (MIS) set out what managers need to know, understand and be able to do in the role of a manager.

When should it be undertaken?

Skills for Care recommends the MIS are undertaken after completing Lead to succeed. They can be undertaken in parallel with the Level 4 Certificate in the Principles of Leadership and Management for Adult Care.

How long does it take?

The timeframe can vary depending on the pace of the individual undertaking it and the support they receive. We would recommend allowing between six to twelve months to complete.

What else is available to help?

Becoming a manager is our practical workbook which helps learners think about, and apply, the MIS. This workbook costs £75 or it can be purchased alongside other essential publications in our Care Manager Starter Pack for £95.

The real life case studies and scenarios in our MIS eLearning help learners to reflect and complete self-directed learning. Each module costs only £15. Read more here.

Lead to succeed and the Level 4 Certificate in the Principles of Leadership and Management for Adult Care are both closely aligned with the Manager Induction Standards, so undertaking either can be beneficial to learners.

What others say

Through my Manager Induction Standards I've learnt about the fundamental standards and what we need to improve.
